

Vacancy News

Sunday 9th November was the closing date for the Rector vacancy advertisement.

We were pleased to hear the news on Monday that we had received applications for the post and are grateful for the time and trouble each candidate has taken in filling out the application form.

These will be discussed at the shortlisting meeting next week, which will be chaired by our Archdeacon Mike Gilbertson and attended by the Parish Representatives. Following that discussion, we will decide whether or not to invite each of the candidates to interview.

As I am sure you will appreciate, we must, out of respect to all involved, keep confidentiality at the forefront of this process. Accordingly, we will not be able to offer any details regarding those who have displayed interest in the post.

It has been so encouraging to see the way in which the profile has been engaged with and the positive perception of the opportunities that lie ahead for Middlewich and Byley.

We are particularly grateful for Mike and his team for the way in which they have administered the process.

We ask for your ongoing prayers as we seek wisdom in hearing God's voice and a sense of where he is leading us as we move to this next stage in seeking our next Rector.
